CHICKERING & SONS—The One Price System.—We recognize in the recent action of Chickering & Sons a movement in the right direction. By close calculation they have made out a price list in which their pianos are marked at the exact price for which they can be sold, and from that price no deduction will be made.

CHICKERING & SONS, with their reputation and wealth, won by forty-seven years of honorable and successful business life, can afford to take their pianos without the risk of being accused of selling "cheap" pianos. The superiority of their instruments is vouchsafed for by the testimony of all the great pianists of the world, and by a hundred first-class medals, and by Orders of Distinction from foreign courts, and by the more important evidence offered by the thirty-four thousand Chickering pianos now in use in this country.

SAFES. The pleasant little woodland warblers sing On every tree the sweet return of spring; Away from haunts of men they feel secure, And waste their music where the air is pure. To be secure where human beings roam, We use a kind of iron labelled "CHRONOS." Prepared in globules of a transparent case, Within whose sides a spacious cavity lies: An opening small admits your precious store, Locked fast by six iron bolts, and never may be opened by any thief or burglar. Thus we have one of Marvin's Safes, designed To battle thieves and benefit mankind; A safe you might from any Olympus trust, And neither bend nor break by the blow. In other forms that various fancies resist—All styles and sizes are on Marvin's list. For sale by MARVIN & CO., No. 721 Chestnut street, (Masonic Hall).

A BOLD ROBBERY.—Dr. G. Humphrey, of Beverly, aged eighty-seven years, while at the Colton Dental Association, No. 727 Walnut street, breathed the laughing gas and had three teeth extracted. On awakening, he exclaimed, "You rascals, you have robbed me!" "Robbed you of what?" the operator asked. "Of my teeth," said he. Twelve thousand nine hundred persons have been robbed of their teeth, at the same place, within the past year, among whom one of the proprietors of this paper may be numbered as one of the victims. The gas operates so pleasantly that it is impossible to feel the slightest pain from the operation.—Sunday Mercury.
